WELCOME

It is great to have you as a volunteer with the Dalhousie Office of Advancement!

For decades alumni have strengthened Dalhousie pride and profile in cities around the globe by raising their hands as volunteers and leaders in our communities. Dating back as early as 1871 with the creation of the Dalhousie Alumni Association, alumni and friends have been mobilizing as groups and individuals through initiatives that build relationships, support students, and strengthen our society.

Volunteering with Dal provides an excellent platform to engage with, and learn from the diverse alumni community and bring your own personal and professional perspectives into the University's impactful reach.

The following information and tools are resources for every Dalhousie volunteer, regardless of your role or position. We ask that you take a few minutes to review each item and follow up with the Office of Advancement with any questions you might have. Whether you have been volunteering with Dalhousie for years or only a few moments, we are excited to work with you and continue this journey together — thank you for your support!

Sincerely,

Alana Riley (MBA'17), President, Dalhousie Alumni Association

ABOUT THE OFFICE OF ADVANCEMENT

The Office of Advancement works with alumni, donors and friends of Dalhousie to strengthen and build on existing relationships. We discover and highlight shared interests, secure support for the university, and work to increase connections with Dal's alumni around the world.

VISION

A high-performance university advancement team that achieves outstanding results by inspiring others to provide Dalhousie University with the means to meet and exceed its goals.

MISSION

The Office of Advancement will deepen the university's affinity with its alumni and friends through compelling communication and proactive engagement, motivating them to invest in Dalhousie's vision of the future.

WHAT TO EXPECT AS A VOLUNTEER

The Office of Advancement is committed to fostering an inclusive, respectful community and volunteer experience, and strives to empower our volunteers as socially responsible citizens that uphold these values. Volunteering with Dalhousie opens pathways to new connections, experiences and opportunities for you, however each volunteer role is unique. We encourage you to discuss your role with us directly should you wish to know more about what you personally should expect as a Dal volunteer.

TIME COMMITMENT

Volunteering is a flexible and easy way to connect, engage, and give back to Dalhousie University and your community. Time-commitment varies by role – some are more structured such as boards and committees, the Dal Insight Circle, and the Global Alumni Ambassador program, while others are more flexible such as event supports and mentorship. You can connect with our volunteer coordinators at any time to discuss your individual interests and availabilities, or any conflicts with scheduling you may experience.

SELECTION PROCESS

Some of our volunteer opportunities, particularly our boards and committees, Global Alumni Ambassadors and the Dal Insight Circle have more robust and tailored application processes. These measures are in place as part of our commitment to the diversity, inclusion, and accessibility of our volunteer programming. For further details on the specific selection processes, please visit our role descriptions at alumni.dal.ca/volunteer.

COMMUNICATION

Our primary method of communicating volunteer opportunities, news, and updates will be through email. Occasionally, if something urgent should arise, we may contact you via phone. Lastly, while contact via physical mail is rare, we do ask that our volunteers provide active mailing addresses as this ensures you are eligible for our exclusive Benefits program, event invitations, and additional opportunities that are local to you. To ensure that your contact information is up-to-date, please visit our website or send us an email at volunteer@dal.ca.

POLICIES AND AGREEMENTS

All volunteers are expected to review and adhere to a Volunteer Code of Conduct. These policies are in place to ensure a healthy, supportive, and safe environment for all volunteers, and will be provided to you at the time of signing up. Depending on the nature of your role, you may also be asked to sign a Photo/Media release form, a Confidentiality Agreement or other role-specific agreements or waivers. Should you have any questions regarding these policies please contact us at volunteer@dal.ca.

TRAINING AND ORIENTATION

The majority of our volunteer opportunities will provide role-specific training before you start. Timing for this training is scheduled in advance and may vary from online workshop to one-on-one phone call or meeting. When you are enrolled in an opportunity, a volunteer coordinator will connect with you directly to further outline any required training.

We would like to emphasize that all of our volunteers are encouraged to participate in our Cultivating an Inclusive Environment workshop, facilitated by Dalhousie's Human Rights and Equity Services team.

Lastly, all volunteers will be connected with a volunteer coordinator at their time of enrollment, and are encouraged to reach out to these contacts or volunteer@dal.ca with questions or concerns at any time.
